

STEFAN TRESCHOW – Director

At Treschow, we don't just do stories – stories are what we breathe and what we always aim to depict with the greatest amount of narrative and aesthetic perfection. Whether we do commercials, film or television, and whether we produce ourselves or work with another production company, we always do it with an absolute and heartfelt dedication, devotion, empathy and reliability. No project is just a job to us. Through every aspect of the creative process we always do our outermost to nurture the essence of each story and find a way of expressing it that will not only entertain and touch our audience but also leave them with food for thought. We don't do mediocrity. We don't do close but no cigar. We do unique, consistent and beautiful stories you can actually feel.

We are husband and wife, director and producer, working and living together. What we do is who we are. It is that simple.
